About Native Ground

Native Ground Books & Music is dedicated to teaching & preserving America's history, as told through music, cooking traditions, and folklore. A family owned and operated business, we collect songs, recipes, stories, and art from primary resources to create authentic (and affordable) books & recordings. Join us as we celebrate historic American music & cooking.

About Wayne Erbsen

Wayne has been playing and teaching music since dinosaurs roamed the earth. As a musician he has recorded 18 solo albums, and as an author he has written over thirty instruction and songbooks for guitar, banjo, fiddle, mandolin, dulcimer and ukulele. He is a radio host, a music professor at Warren Wilson College, and the founder and president of Native Ground Books and Music.

About Barbara Swell

Barbara has spent a lifetime collecting recipes and old-timey kitchen wisdom from the strong women in her family, as well as from countless elderly farm women living in the Appalachian mountains. She has written 11 cookbooks, and teaches old-time cooking classes at her log cabin in Asheville, NC and at the John C. Campbell Folk School.
